

TASK 8. Linux process management

1. Display all the processes that are currently running in your Linux system
2. To run processes with priority
3. To run the process in the background and will display the process id of the process
4. To run a process in the background without getting impacted by the closing of the terminal.
5. To run all the pending and force stopped jobs in the foreground.